

KIKONGO HOSPITAL

Kikongo Hospital is the main hospital for a population of over 100,000 people in Bandundu. The hospital provides a broad range of services to patients from the region.

The hospital received a grant of $7,500 through the Ambassador's Special Self Help Fund to purchase a generator. The installation of the generator has greatly increased the technical and non-technical medical services available at the hospital. It also provides the hospital with light, so staff no longer operates by the light of kerosene lamps during the night hours.
